Each hexagon represents a PHP script or a collection of scripts, depending on how we organize the code. There will be more tables involved with this process probably. For example, the tables that map related things together. This is just a bird's eye view of what's going on between the two major client-side views and the DB.